Why Hire Rick Hansen

If you're looking for a speaker who will motivate your audience by teaching leaders how to drive business results through a human-centric approach and unleash potential in both individuals and teams so that your organization will flourish, Rick Hansen will inspire. While doing so, he shares specific techniques that confront adversity while maximizing the goal of impact, in business and in life. Whether you are a CEO, Executive, HR leader, manager, or entrepreneur looking to grow your business, navigate complexity, pivot your organization, or demonstrate the power of true change through one individual, Rick Hansen has found a way to unlock the human spirit.

What Does He Speak About

In his breakout TEDx Talk - "What Surfing Taught Me About Leadership" - he shared the secret of how to drive business results through a human-centric approach of unleashing potential that leads to flourishing. He told his remarkable story about how learning to surf was a breakthrough for him in his personal battle of relentless bullying and deep insecurities because of a significant, lifelong stutter. Today he uses that experience and two decades of leadership experience in the trenches working with and in organizations of all sizes to drive growth. From family run businesses, to tech startups, to global consulting firms like Accenture, he developed The Leadership Equation that differentiates leaders by teaching them how to "find the line in the chaos."
